

Information No. 8

“We have finished the Chapter. Now the work begins”. Thus Fr Valdir de Castro, the Superior General, exhorted the Chapter Members at the approval of the Final Document of X General Chapter of the Society of St Paul. In his discourse, Fr Castro expressed heartfelt gratitude to all those generously contributed to the success of the Chapter.

- Now we begin our new journey with the joy of evangelization through the means of communication and in the culture of communication. This is how the Final Document offers us guidelines. We are called to bring hope to all without which we are unable to make progress.
- Every Chapter Member is responsible to communicate the content of the Chapter. The Document alone can't communicate the rich contributions of the original ideas and proposals.
- The General Government's visits to the communities will be a service of animation to enrich our lives and to live in communion. To be true experts of communication, we must be true experts of communion.
- In this Chapter, we have spoken much about new means and new languages of communication. We will walk ahead in this direction without discarding the traditional ones which still bring precious contributions to some parts of the world.
- To make progress, we all have to prepare ourselves through academic scholarships, not only the young but also all those who want. We need to find a motivation to keep ourselves updated continuously.
- In those circumscriptions which lack vocations, we should not give ourselves up but we must look ahead with hope.

On Saturday evening the General Chapter came to its closing with the Eucharistic celebration presided over by our Superior General. The Holy Spirit who accompanied us in spite of our weaknesses, now will enlighten us for our mission
